HILL WILL REPUDIATE MURDER CONFESSION

WEST UNION FARMER WAS TRICKED INTO CONFESSION, SAYS

Blayer of Wife and Mother-in-law To Plead Not Guilty

By United Press
PEEBLES, O., March 26.—Faced with the prospect of death in the electric chair for the murder of his wife and his mother-in-law Thomas E. Hill, West Union farmer in his cell here today, declared he would repudiate his confessions.

Hill's wife, Eliza, 62, a cripple and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Rebecca Craig, 92, also crippled and blind, were incarcerated in the Hill cabin, near West Union on Feb. 13. Hill was arrested and confessed he set fire to the cabin to destroy the two women who "were an unbearable burden to him."

"I know I pleaded guilty, but when I come to trial I'm going to deny my confession and change my plea," Hill told an interviewer today. "I was tricked into making the confession," the farmer asserted.

Hill declared he was "no more guilty than any one else."

"I told them I set the place on fire for no reason at all," he said.

Asked if he ever loaned money to Miss Lizzie Goings with whom he was seen in Wilmington, Hill said:

"Yes, I did, but there is no truth in the statement that I asked her to marry me."

Authorities have indicated the motive that inspired Hill to burn to death the two women, was "another woman."

Asked if he had been compelled under threat to make his confession, Hill replied:

"No, there was a man there whom I believed was an attorney, so I told him. Later I found I had been tricked."

The Hill cabin stood almost on the brink of a deep hollow through which flows a little stream, swollen by spring rains. Nothing is left of the house except the brick chimney and scores of charred logs.

The twisted and now rusty springs on which the two crippled women slept, lay where they had fallen. A short distance away stands the barn, from which, according to Hill's confession, he watched the flames as they cremated the helpless women.

Jack Crawford, a neighbor told Prosecutor Kessler today that when the house was burning, Hill ran from the barn, wringing his hands and shouting:

"They have burned up! They have burned up! They have burned up!"

Kessler said that even though Hill repudiates his confession it will have little bearing on the outcome of the trial. He will demand the death penalty, he said.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE "SHOCK TROOPS" READY FOR HEARING

Witnesses Will Oppose Wets When Congress Investigation Starts April 5—Bruce Gets Many Letters

By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 26.—After more than five years of more or less active duty, the "shock troops" of the Anti-Saloon League are being mobilized to battle the "wets" again when the "hearings" start in congress April 5.

Church organizations, pre-Volstead prohibition organizations, temperance union and other dry groups will gather under the banner of the Anti-Saloon League in the combats against the wets at the hearing, Wayne S. Wheeler, general counsel for the league, said today.

The list of witnesses will be announced Monday, he said. Wheeler will make a flying trip to Chicago to debate the prohibition question by radio with Clarence Darrow, there Saturday night. Meantime deluge of letters from all parts of the country telling of "shocking conditions" due to prohibition are pouring into Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland according to his statement today.

"Bruce, one of the most active 'wets' in the senate, declared that some of the letters are stories of 'corruption in cities throughout the country.'"

Bruce is hopeful that his proposed amendment to the constitution which would bring back liquor under the "Canadian system" of government supervision will be passed.

POLICE CONVINCED BOOTLEGGERS SLEW POMEROY RESIDENT

May Trace Two Other Deaths To Murder Also

By United Press
POMEROY, O., March 26.—Convinced that bootleggers were responsible for the murder of James McCumber, 65, whose body was found in an abandoned cistern here, authorities today said the same persons may have killed Mrs. Susan Rhoades and Mrs. Charles Smith, both of whom died under mysterious circumstances.

McCumber was known to have cavorted with a bootlegger's rendezvous, Sheriff Harry Rice declared, expressing the opinion that illicit liquor dealers killed him for revenge. Mrs. Rhoades and Mrs. Smith also were acquainted with bootlegging activities here, Rice asserted.

Before her death, Mrs. Rhoades feared revenge, according to Rice, who said that every time she responded to a knock at her home, she carried a pistol.

Mrs. Rhoades was burned to death one night when fire of mysterious origin, destroyed her home. Her pistol was lying nearby when her charred body was found.

Mrs. Smith was found with her skull crushed. It was believed she had fallen down stairs. Her body may be exhumed, Rice said.

"I believe the murderers of McCumber and Grandma Rhoades and Mrs. Smith are the same persons," Rice said. "I believed both McCumber and Mrs. Smith were struck down in the doorway of their homes."

A postmortem examination revealed that McCumber had been clubbed and a shot fired into the back of his head.

Five of the ten suspects taken into custody after McCumber's body was found were released today, the other five, three white men and two negroes were being grilled. One was reported to have confessed, implicating the others, but this was not confirmed.

The cistern from which McCumber's body was removed, is three miles from his home. Blood spots were found in the house.

In fact Cassidy disclaims being a bootlegger.

Cassidy is said to have two other liquor cases pending against him. One of these involved an alleged sale to a man who said to have obtained entry by introducing as a congressman. Cassidy is held in $1,000 bail for arraignment April 7.

COUNTY GRAND JURY WILL INVESTIGATE TAYLOR CASE AGAIN

Fresh Evidence Is Reviving Four Year Old Case.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Mar. 26.—The Los Angeles County grand jury will investigate the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery as a result of fresh evidence brought to light, it was announced today by Assistant District Attorney Burton Pitts.

Inquiry is to begin as soon as District Attorney Asa Keyes returns from his tour of investigation in eastern states with new evidence he claims to have gathered.

"There probably will be some indictments" declared Pitts, who completed questioning of several witnesses today on instructions wired him by Keyes.

Witnesses examined included Chauncey Eaton, chauffeur for Charlotte Shelby, mother of Mary Miles Minter, and Marjorie Berger, income tax expert. The prosecutor refused to reveal the nature of their statements.

"We also questioned a number prominent members of the motion picture industry," said Pitts, refusing, however, to name them.

Before Keyes takes his case to the grand jury, he will interview Mrs. Shelby and Mabel Normand. Both Miss Normand and Miss Minter were warm friends of the screen director.

Miss Minter was questioned by Keyes in the east and he is anxious to have her testimony corroborated by her mother, it was said.

"We merely want to quiz Miss Normand and Mrs. Shelby to confirm information we already have," said Pitts.

The District Attorney's office, on the strength of its latest findings, believes that a paid assassin fired the shot that killed Taylor. This man, it was said, by the prosecutors, may have been Edward F. Sands, the slain man's valet who vanished after the killing.

It is further believed that the slayer of Taylor was hired by a woman, not an actress, but profoundly interested in a film star, who was in love with Taylor.

Both "dope" and "love" may have entered into the affair, it was said. Taylor was known to have befriended many members of the screen colony, addicted to narcotics. And he was known as a sworn enemy of the "dope ring."

Keyes, when he returns to Los Angeles, is expected to go before the grand jury with his latest discovery and ask for at least one indictment—possibly two or more.

It was freely admitted at the District Attorney's office, however, that Keyes' case is entirely circumstantial.

Society Girl Wins Race But Doesn't Envy Jockey's Life Or Publicity

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 26.—Miss Virginia Burford, beautiful golden-haired society girl who won the special feature horse race for charity at the Tampa Downs track yesterday is not envious of a jockey's life.

"I should say, I wouldn't like to be a jockey," she said in an interview with the United Press.

"The only reason I entered the race was to help the children's home. I really wish you wouldn't say anything about it in the papers. I don't like all the publicity."

A timid little girl with a ready smile and sparkling blue eyes, she made no effort to beat her if I could. I owed that much to 'Billy' who was to conceal the affection she bore for "Billy," the horse she coaxed across the finish.

"I don't like to beat the jockey line a winner yesterday, sake," Miss Burford continued other girls but I'm mighty udd."

Glad I won if only for Billy's "To begin with, 'Billy' started off so quickly that I lost one of my stirrups and of course that made it much harder for me to ride. I could hear the rest of the horses behind me and I wouldn't give up."

"I turned around and saw Pet McKay, my best friend right behind me in second place. I didn't care which of us won."

"Of course I was going to try so hard to win."

"When the race neared the end and it was so close, I just said 'come on Billy boy' and he did. That's all there is to it."

Miss Burford, a sophomore in High School here, has had a pony to ride since she was old enough to stay on a horse's back, Mrs. R. A. Burford, her mother explained.

"I'm out riding Billy every spare moment," Virginia, went on, "I'd rather ride than eat—and I like to eat too, don't I mother?"

ORGANIZATIONS OF FARMERS FAVORING DEPARTMENT PROBE

Reveal State Never Paid For Use Of Fairgrounds

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 26.—Demanding a "square deal for every one," powerful Ohio farm organizations were on record today as favoring a thorough investigation of the state department of agriculture.

This development followed closely the revelation by Deputy State Auditor Silver that $1250, the state was to receive from the 1926 Columbus automobile show for rental of the state fair grounds cattle barn, has never been paid into the state treasury.

Asked what disposition of the money had been made, Silver said:

"From what I can learn, $752.95 was paid out for state fair advertising and a check for $457 was handed to Director of Agriculture 'Truax'."

Silver today was making the latter check the subject of an inquiry. The voucher was said to have been drawn by A. B. Coates, president of the show, but has never been presented to the bank for payment.

"The check was mailed January 28," Silver said.

Truax told the United Press he had never received it and denied having any knowledge of it.

The request of the farm organizations for an investigation of the department of agriculture was laid before Silver, in the absence of State Auditor Tracy, was the outgrowth of the department inquiry now under way. The delegation presenting the request included L. J. Tabor, Master of the National Grange and former director of agriculture; C. A. Dyer, legislative agent of the Ohio Farm Bureau and of the Ohio Grange; N. E. Shaw, Editor of the Ohio Stockman and Farmer and former Secretary of Agriculture and W. H. Loyd, editor of the Ohio Farmer.

WILL REMOVE CLARK TO PEN NEXT WEEK

Sheriff William Wirt today believed he had felled plans of the youth to commit suicide. Following Clark's conviction and after his return to jail here, Wirt searched the youth and found a razor-blade concealed in his vest.

Wirt said he believed Clark contemplated using the blade in an attempt to destroy himself. The blade had been slipped into a rent in the vest.

Clark today appeared unconcerned over his future. He accepted the jury's verdict of guilty without recommendation for mercy—stolidly. The date of the youth's execution is expected to be some time in May.

CROSS PETITION IS FILED WITH ANSWER TO SUIT BY SMITH

Solicitor Says Demand For Fees "Political Flare Back"

Alleging suit of E. Dawson Smith ex-police judge for $684.45 in state fees assessed during his term is a mere "political flare-back," City Solicitor J. A. Finney filed an answer and cross-petition in Common Pleas Court, Friday, asking recovery of $3,600, the eight-year salary of the plaintiff with 6 percent interest from January 1, 1926.

The city solicitor avers Smith, as alleged police judge, unlawfully drew salary from the city from January 1, 1918, to January 1, 1922 at the rate of $400 per year, and from January 1, 1922 to January 1, 1926 at the rate of $500 per year.

This sum was drawn by the judge under provisions of section 23 of the city charter which is unconstitutional and void, the solicitor claims.

In his answer to Judge Smith's suit for collection of state fees, the solicitor contends the matter of fees was brought to the attention of City Commission soon after Smith became police judge and he rendered an opinion the judge was not entitled to any form of revenue other than a yearly salary.

When the question of state fees arose, Judge Smith was called before the commission, informed of the city solicitor's opinion and further told that if he desired to continue in office, he must do so in conformity with the solicitor's opinion and on the salary fixed by the ordinance as full compensation for police judge, cross petition recites.

Denying Judge Smith's allegation that he continued in office under protest, the city solicitor contends he agreed to the terms laid down and continued in office, voluntarily accepted his salary and voluntarily paid the state fees in to the city treasury in conformity with the stipulation of the commission.

Plaintiff further points out that under a decision of the state supreme court, it was held municipalities are not empowered by charter to create a police court nor appoint a police judge.

In view of this decision, which resulted in the amendment of the city charter, effective January 1, 1926, had the judge been otherwise entitled to the fees he would not now be entitled to recovery by reason of the unconstitutional section of the charter under which he held office.

He further alleges that if the judge is entitled to the fees he claims are due him, the statute of limitations would operate against all fees prior to six years from the date of filing of the petition.

Answer declares the ex-judge was a member of the original charter commission under which section 23 was drafted for the purpose of providing that all fees coming to the magistrate shall be paid into the city treasury and that his sole compensation should be a salary, "as the plaintiff well knew or should have known."

Asserting plaintiff's claim is a mere political flareback, the solicitor declared the judge never intended otherwise than that fees paid into the city treasury belonged to the city and it was only after January 1, 1926, when the mayor of the city under the amended provision of the charter, was granted a substantial increase in salary to $900, that the judge determined on the course of claiming back fees.

Buick is More Expensively Built But it Costs Less to Buy one

Buick is built more expensively than any other cars in or near the Buick price class.

"Expensively built" means that the different parts and units of the Buick motor car are the best that engineers can design. But, thanks to the large volume which public demand has given to Buick, and thanks also to production methods that are models of efficiency in an efficient industry, the Buick motor car can be sold to you at a very moderate price.

Many Buick features are duplicated only in America's highest priced motor cars.

Buick, for instance, uses the Torque Tube Drive to transmit the drive of the rear wheels to the chassis, instead of burdening the rear springs with this added duty. The highest priced car in America uses the torque tube. And so does Buick!

The American public wants finer transportation, and Buick provides it at lower cost. Consequently Buick is a very popular car. Come in and examine the Better Buicks.

Ninety-six socialists in the chamber of deputies stubbornly maintain their opposition to finance Minister Poret's plan.

After listening to Poret's explanations of his project today, socialist members of the chamber budget committee said they would oppose the business tax even if their opposition caused another cabinet crisis and the resignation of Aristide Briand from his fifth tenure as premier. "The opposition to the government project is unchanged," Foret told the United Press after leaving the committee room.

Women Need a Mild Laxative—Not a "Physic"

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid such headache, fizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, ulcers, or sour gassy stomach. They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even in those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all it never gripes sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

CIVILIZATION ADVANCES

COMPARISONS are said to be odious, but if we would know ourselves as a nation we must reflect ourselves in the searching mirror provided by past civilizations and our foreign neighbors. The leader can always learn something from his followers.

Modernity is especially interested in the recent archaeological discoveries in Egypt, China, our own Southwest and Central and South America, not so much through empty curiosity as through a desire to learn what the past can teach and to gauge the advance of civilization. We are unconsciously reflecting ourselves in the mummy of King Tut and our institutions in the palace and tomb of the boy Pharaoh. An American correspondent in Russia writes that the villages in interior Russia are just awakening to the demands of modern life. He cites instances where electricity has just been "discovered" to the villagers and where the theatre is only now being brought to the Russian towns.

It is hard for those in urban America to believe that electricity and the theatre have been unknown to vast areas of Russia because one forgets or does not know that the same condition exists in many parts of this country. Few persons, to be sure, in the United States do not come in contact with electricity in some of its many forms, but even in the thickly populated East there are towns which still light their streets and houses with gas. As for the theatre, in this country it was first brought to the small American town by the moving picture. Before the introduction of the moving picture there were structures which purported to be theatres in many of the smaller towns, but the show troupes which played in them were of little worth and far apart. It is to the motion picture that rural America is turning for the panorama of American life, for the American drama and our own peculiar American comedy.

MORAL VALUE OF "DRESSING UP"

"HOW would they treat me if I went to their church some morning dressed in my working clothes?" said a man sneeringly as a couple of clergymen passed by.

"Exactly as you would be treated if you were to appear at the plumber's ball dressed that way," replied his friend.

Dressing up one's best is not a sign of snobbishness. It is a fine evidence of self-respect. The man who takes pride in his personal appearance is merely giving expression to his desire to be his best.

There is great moral value in dressing up. The man who comes home from work, shaves, cleans up and puts on his best clothes, will go out on the street with his head a little higher, his eye a little clearer and his heart a little nobler.

Clothes do not make a man but they do give some indication of the respect in which he holds himself. The man who is willing to appear in a crowd of his fellows, dressed untidily when they are dressed up in their best, shows that he is lacking in a fine sense of self-respect.

No matter how cordially the drowd may be treated, it will not change his attitude toward himself.

Many a down and outer has been started on "the road back" by being dressed in a new, clean suit. He has been given the outward evidences of self-respect and feels the old impulses and ambitions stirring again within him. There is much salvation in being "dressed up."

Sunday is not a day for letting down but one for toning up.

The man who spends Sunday in a cast-off suit, rummaging through the basement, painting screens or tinkering with the old bus finds that the day shows a deficit.

He who turns the key in his desk on Saturday night, arises on Sunday and dresses his best, thinks great thoughts, cleans out his mind and gives his soul an airing, has been profited by dressing up.

SPRINGTIME IS HERE

SPRING is the season when new energy and hope rise in the blood courses of man like the sap in the trees. It is the invisible urge which makes man plan gardens, renew the home, plan for the future and make noble resolves. People who don't feel the spirit of spring have forever lost the spirit of life itself.

It is lamentable that the season for making resolutions is in mid-winter. For every reason except the calendar new resolutions for change of human conduct should come with the first warm breeze of spring. Resolution is born of inspiration and human beings, like hibernating beasts and winter blasted vegetation, are inspired by nature's warmth alone.

Most of us mistake spring fever for a tired, care-free feeling when a real analysis reveals it as a feeling of impatience for greater things, inspired ambition and a devouring desire to get away to see and know all. Spring fever is a much maligned human experience. That spring-time desire for a new job, a new house and new scenes isn't indolence and lethargy as commonly conceived. It is nature's impetus for poets, artists, explorers, inventors and all the rest of the world's dream children.

THE DOUBLE-PURPOSE ROOM

The high cost of rents is perhaps an explanation of the present practice of making one room serve as two. Especially in large cities one finds families crowding into quarters too small to accommodate them comfortably, thus necessitating the use of a room as bedroom as well as living room—or as dining room as well as living room. Sometimes one finds the combination of bedroom-dining room, but I personally do not like this arrangement; too often the room is not prop-

Greene County History

A FAMOUS BARN

Miami Twp. boasts some of the finest scenery in the state of Ohio and years ago thousands of tourists visited various parts of it each year.

The famous springs at Yellow Springs, the cliffs at Clifton and along the Little Miami River, the fantastical geological formations to be found along the stream unite to make this territory one of the beauty spots of the state. An interesting spot along the river is the old Grinnell mill which was in operation for more than a century and is still in a fine state of preservation. Near the mill farther up the river is the finest park in Greene County and one of the fine ones of the state, the celebrated Riverside Park formerly the property of John Bryan.

It became the property of the state at the death of the eccentric millionaire.

This park is one of nature's beauty spots—500 acres of mingled woodland and meadow rivers and streams, springs and cascades, hills and vales.

The former Bryan farm once boasted the largest barn in the entire state. Its interior dimensions gave some idea of its size: 206 feet long, 120 feet wide and seventy-five feet high. Bryan later built an L to the barn eighty-five feet long by fifty feet wide. This addition itself was larger than the average barn.

First story was constructed of stone. Remainder of the huge structure was composed of oak and pine. The famous barn stands one mile and one-half southeast of Yellow Springs.

PLAY

Play occupies a greater part in the real happiness of life than almost any other element.

The man or woman who gives all his or her time to work and no play, early grows cramped and sour. Play takes youth by the hand and leads it into middle life and touches old age with beauty, giving a striking and gorgeous beauty to all life, as the summer clouds make opals amongst the rays of the dying sun.

No time to play? Isn't it life for which we live? Isn't happiness the goal of all our ambitions? And what a worker play makes of a man!

On the other hand, work may be made largely play. The most trying and strenuous job in the world is that of President of the United States. Yet when President Roosevelt was about to retire, after two of the most strenuous terms in history, he grinned and said: "I've had a bully time!" It is too bad that the world had to lose so great a man so soon. I don't believe that Roosevelt would ever have grown old.

Tennis, horse-back riding, boxing, affairs of state and of the world—these were a part of the daily life of Roosevelt. (And hunting in parts of half a dozen countries thrown in for vacation time.)

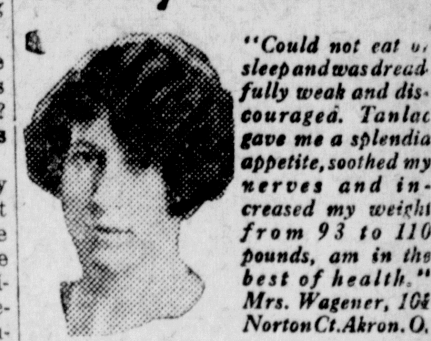

Youth should be taught that work must be made a part of play, and that all work really can be made play.

The healthy and wholesome city is that one which devotes most to the recreational phase of its community.

College life would be dull and drab without its play. "I love my work." That attitude is what gives zest and happiness to any worker.

Let's never forget how and when to play!

NEW FOOTBALL RULE AFFECTING PASS IS NOT TO BE CHANGED

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
NEW YORK, Mar. 26.—Criticism directed at the new rule restricting the use of the forward pass will not result in a reconsideration of the rule for at least a year, according to H. K. Hall, chairman of the rules committee.

The committee feels it was a constructive ruling adopted with the intention of improving the game and that any such changes should be given the benefit of a test.

It has happened several times that changes in the rules have been revoked after they have been tested for a season as was the case in the kick-off rule last year, and if the rule permitting the quarter-back only one incomplete pass without a penalty slows up the game it may be scratched off the books next winter.

The committee feels also, it is said, that as many coaches as are being quoted against it. The criticism that it was a reactionary measure or aimed at forward passing systems like Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Tulane or Washington was declared to be beside the point.

The suggestion made by Bob Zuppke, that the progressive sections of the country should draft their own rules, threatens a situation similar to that resulting from the baseball resin rule.

Although the rule book permits a pitcher to use resin on his hands, the American League and several minor leagues have refused to accept the rule and they can get away with it on a technicality.

Some organizations like the Western conference, the Missouri Valley conference, the Southwestern conference might agree among themselves to ignore the old rule and let the quarter-back call for as many passes as he wishes without being penalized and the rules committee would have to dig hard for a come-back.

Only in the case of an inter-sectional game could a real issue develop and teams would not seek any such test cases.

The rules committee feels that each section of the country was represented in the committee that passed the rule and that there is no ground for the complaint that the east is trying to get back an old game which the West took away with the perfection of the open games.

of this city and Miss Grace Edwards, of Wilberforce, Ohio, will render special selections at the recital given by Mrs. Hazel Edwards Stokes, Tuesday evening, March 30th.

TOO FAT? TOO THIN?

By J. J. Teedt, Director of Physical Education, Wilson Avenue Dept., Y. M. C. A. Chicago.

IV. "One Leg Squeeze." The exercise today has wonderful health values, and is particularly good for stimulating peristaltic movement—the rhythmic movement of the intestines.

Position: Same as in preceding exercises—lying on back with arms outstretched over head.

Exercise: Lower the arms to the thighs, at the same time bringing one leg up. Grasp the leg with the hands and squeeze it to the chest. Continue for 24 counts.

Start this movement with the left leg, flexing the leg and thigh as you raise it. Grasp the leg just below the knee with both hands and pull downward toward the chest as you count "one."

On count "two" return to original position and on counts "three" and "four" repeat with the other leg. The leg should always be pressed to the middle of the chest.

"The Big Squeeze" will come tomorrow. It's a dandy for reducing that waist line!

RESERVES SIGN NEW PLAYERS; MAY OPEN SEASON ON APRIL 11

With re-organization of the team complete, the Xenia Reserves baseball team will once more represent the city on the diamond this season, it is announced.

Sunday afternoon games will be scheduled as heretofore and all contests will be played at Washington Park.

The field is being conditioned rapidly and the squad will hold its first limbering up practice session Sunday afternoon, if good weather prevails.

Schedule has not yet been arranged but it is planned to open the season April 11.

Many of the veteran Xenia diamond stars will again be seen in the lineup but much Dayton talent has also been signed up.

Among new faces appearing in the lineup will be Eckert, formerly a member of the Dayton Racers, who will captain the nine. Eckert plays a short stop position and is one of the most talented players in Dayton.

Conway, second baseman, also formerly of the Dayton Racers, will play in a Xenia Reserve uniform, it is announced.

Xenia fans are eagerly awaiting the opening of the season and as only first class ball clubs will be scheduled, good baseball entertainment is guaranteed.

The Magic Of The Medicine Man

In the pioneer days of this country, the Indian Medicine Man found in the roots and herbs of the woods and fields a remedy for almost every ailment of mankind. So potent did it prove that the relief from suffering seemed almost like magic.
From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass. made her famous Vegetable Compound which many women have relied upon for over fifty years. adv

Syrians Threaten to Bathe Damascus in Blood Again

Foreign consuls in Syria are taking steps to protect the lives and properties of their nationals, following a threat by Syrians who are in rebellion against French rule, to sack Damascus and burn and kill as ruthlessly as did the French in their massacre there last year. Photo shows the condition in which the city was left by the French bombardment, and native troops guarding a road leading into the place.

New Canadian Gold Rush Growing Into Stampede

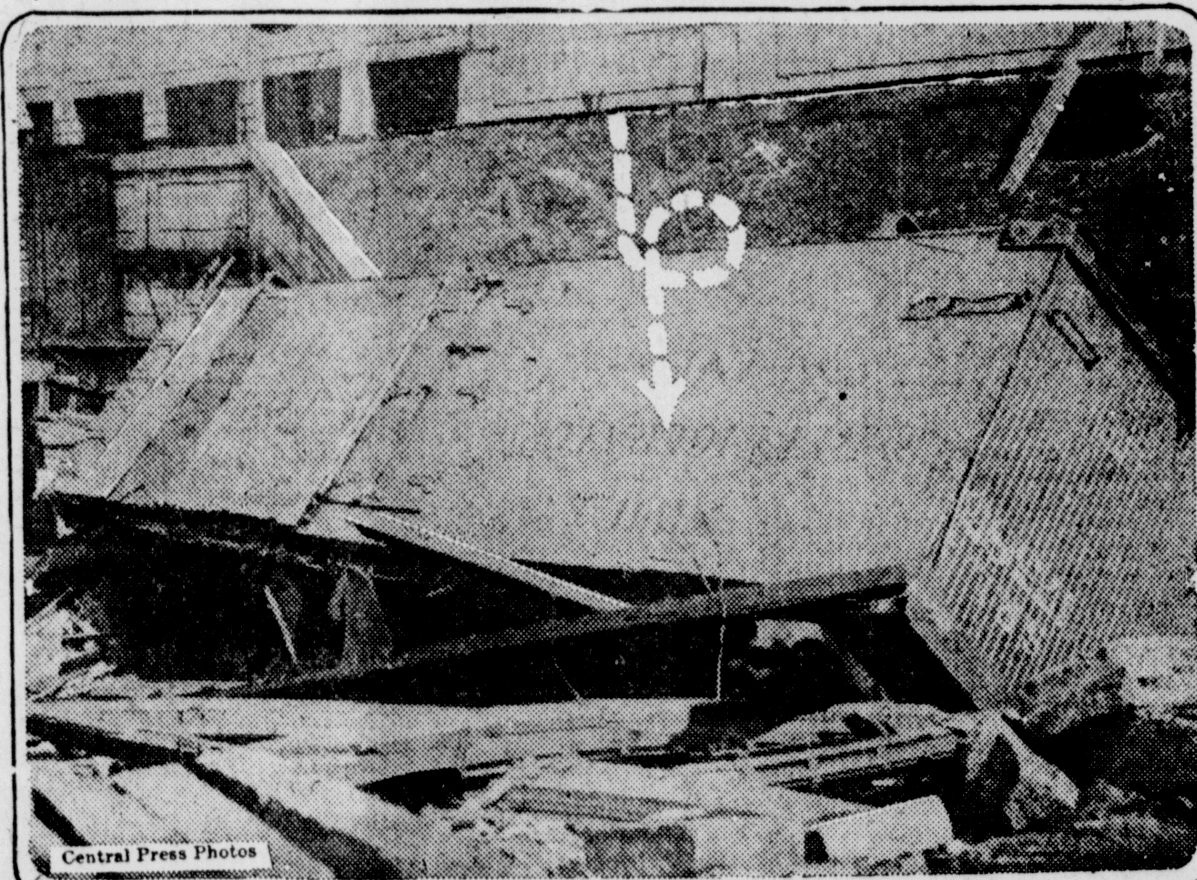

Red Lake region of Canada, which lies due north from Minnesota, is in the grip of a gold rush, with prospectors coming in from all directions. By spring the stampede is expected to be the greatest in Canadian mining history, exceeding even the development of the Klondyke. The district is six days by dog team from the nearest railroad point, but airplanes, brought in to carry mail and supplies, are covering the distance in an hour or two. Photo shows prospectors "panning" an icy stream.

Navy Ready to Build Greatest Air Battleships

Congress is being asked by the navy to appropriate for two 6,000,000 cubic-foot dirigibles (thrice the size of the late Shenandoah) which would be flying arsenals in time of war, fully protected with machine guns and small cannon against the most modern fighting planes. No other country has airships so large. Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of navy bureau of aeronautics is seen (with pointer) showing members of house naval affairs committee size of proposed machines as compared with the Shenandoah.

Catapulting Railroad Car Drives Family From Home

Family of Steve Galuske, whose house in Pittsburgh is within a stone's throw of a railroad, fled the home when a refrigerator car was knocked from the rails and tossed 35 feet, smashing an out-building and narrowly missing the Galuske dwelling. Members of the family, dining in the kitchen, saw the car catapult toward them.

Old Egypt Honored The Dead

Far within the outer walls of the pyramids are hermetically sealed chambers. Here the emperors of early Egypt prepared for themselves their abode after death. Here they placed the Book of the Dead—a guide for the re-incarnated spirit in its after-life wanderings. Mural paintings—life sized statues—works of art—adorned these chambers.

Your Reverence

For your beloved dead demands expression in the erection of an enduring memorial. It is the last tribute you may pay to those who have gone before—the last personal service you may render. To erect a monument that is beautiful in quality, line and workmanship is to dignify the memory of your loved ones.

Men are taking to cover seeking shelter where they may! Even the children are agitated! For SPRING HOUSECLEANING is upon the face of the earth, and thank goodness, we sure got MOST EVERYTHING HERE in the way of AMMUNITION! Ask Mary about it!

How Much Do You Know About Easter?

Did you know that the Easter celebration in the 10th Century lasted 8 days? That slaves received their freedom at that time? That the poor were feasted in the churches? That up until the 16th Century, sports, dances and farcical exhibitions, in which at times the clergy joined, were the order of Easter Day? That colored eggs are used not only by Christians at Easter but by Persians at their Solar New Year (March) and by the Jews at their Feast of the Passover?

Apart from Easter's purely religious significance in this country and the very natural solemnity of the occasion, Americans make the day one where gaily colored NEW raiment, happy new bonnets and (if the weather be propitious) the "Easter Parade" are strongly in evidence.

In other words, we all sorta like to brush off a lot of griefs, troubles, mistakes and other mental dust we've collected and start out again all frizzed up for a NEW set of adventures—in the spring!

And you'll probably be real pleased at some of the things a store like ours can contribute to this jaunty of yours.

Linking U. S. and Britain by Phones

Rapid development of trans-oceanic radio telephony along commercial lines is being predicted by radio engineers as a result of the successful tests of new equipment which enabled New York to converse with London for four hours in the greatest hook-up ever attempted. SPEAKER COMPARES RELIGIOUS LIFE TO SPORT OF FISHING

Comparing the following of a religious life to fishing, the Rev. H. Elmer Pemberton, evangelist at the Friends Church, preached a forceful sermon Thursday night. Speaking of the essential things in fishing he called attention first to the rod, which he remarked, should be one easily folded and put away to be stored in a small space. He compared the rod to the Bible, which he declared to be a joint that with its many books, each fitting into its place.

The Bible, the evangelist said, was easily put away in the heart, so simple that a child could understand it, yet so profound that statesmen rely upon it. The Rev. Mr. Pemberton stated that Gladstone pursued the Bible one hour each day.

He then said that a line was the next essential and one was needed that would cast well, not tangle, and strong enough to hold the largest possible catch. Prayer, he then compared to the line that would reach and hold all circumstances especially when the line is reaching for the "other fellow." One cannot fish without a hook, the evangelist went on to say. A hook is needed that will hold and is sharp, he declared. Faith was compared to the hook that catches and holds and bait he showed to be love and sympathy while a reel which keeps the line from tangling things, the landing net is the church with each person a cord in the net, helping to conserve the forces of righteousness.

Rupture Can Be Cured!

WITHOUT OPERATION; PAIN
DELAY; DANGER

Try This New Way Free

YOU are old before your time, if you wear the cruel, gouging truss, forcing its way into your rupture, preventing cure and making impossible the healing of the tear in your side.

Modern inventiveness has striven for something which would retain the rupture gently, at the same time draw the edges of the wound together. In this way ONLY can rupture ever be healed without surgical operation.

Heal the Tear

The new Brooks Appliance—rebuilt and recreated—allows the wound to heal. At the same time it retains the rupture with ease, comfort and safety. Circulation is free—those steel hoops, chafing straps and gouging pads are unnecessary. Freedom of movement is possible and all the time the new Brooks Appliance will be working for your cure.

Here is the secret of the new appliance—this little, gentle, velvet-like thing which is doing so much to relieve and cure rupture sufferers.

It lays—not pushes—on the rupture; its soft air cushion of hygienic rubber, gently brings those torn edges together. Every time you move, every breath, tends to gradually close the wound—the edges knit and your rupture is sealed. Daily it can be washed—just as easily as your hand. Soap and water will better it, rather than hurt it.

Truss Prevents Cure

These are facts—so why not face them—you can never cure that rupture as long as the edges are being kept apart by a hard penetrating pad. Proper circulation is impossible and constant irritation tends to lessen the chances of growth.

Even if you resort to an operation—results are doubtful, expense certain and suffering is sure—the knife work will consist of bringing the edges of the tear together until nature has had a chance to re-weave the edges of the abdominal wall.

This is what we do with the Brooks Appliance—that is its mission. And it fulfills its mission—whether you work or play, sleep or rest—it is constantly working for your cure—always the little air-cushion, designed so that movement tends to close the wound, works to heal your rupture.

Free Trial Plan

The appliance is as perfect as human inventiveness can make it. Only by wearing it, by experimenting with it, can its logicalness be noted and appreciated. For this reason we will allow you to wear it FREE—test it, try it, note its effect on you. If it suits your case, keep it. If not, send it back. Write today for our free test offer. It is light, safe, modern, comfortable, clean—its life is long and it is the modern way to heal rupture.

Try it—wear it, experiment with it for 10 days FREE—its curative effect will astonish you.

What They Say—

I bought your appliance for my son in 1920 and he has not worn it since 1921.

Since that time he has gone through the most rigorous tests that a boy can think of and never complains in the least. Doctors pronounce him cured.

Sincerely yours, Otto F. Burr, Decatur, Tex., July 14, 1924.

In September of 1921 we sent for your Appliance for our little boy. After using it for one year there was no sign of any rupture and there never has been any return of the trouble. Your soft perfect fitting cushion did the work and we are very thankful to you. The Appliance fitted so nicely that he never complained of it annoying him.

Yours truly, Otto F. Burr, Mar. 12, 1925, Fond du Lac, Wis., U. S.

Some time ago I purchased an Appliance from you for rupture and it had been ruptured for about five years. I had been trying to cure it myself, but nothing else I had tried would help. Before I couldn't do much of anything. Yours truly, Leonie E. Goddard, Feb. 12, 1925, Hampton, Va.

I discontinued wearing my appliance about six weeks ago and am happy to say that my rupture is entirely healed. Was examined by my doctor and pronounced cured. Considering my age, 61 years, think this is wonderful work.

Gratefully yours, E. W. Brown, Norwich, N. Y., 24 Fair St., Aug. 2, 1924.

I wore your appliance for one year and night, after which I underwent a doctor's examination in 1921. He stated I was completely cured and I have had no trouble. I suffered from a double rupture and had used spring trusses for six years without help.

Sincerely yours, Albert Foots, Sterling, Mass., Box No. 177, June 11, 1924.

Are you following this new advice
of New York beauties?

Use the Soap that Stimulates Skin

"Choose a soap," they say, "that cleans tiny pores full length and then stimulates the areas around them"—for by this method you can have skin that is healthy, vivid, soft.

And the soap that is best for both purposes they say, is Jap Rose. Because of its purity (you can see through it) Jap Rose can enter and cleanse your tiny pores that coarse soaps would clog. And the 2 natural tonics Jap Rose contains, stimulate the tissues beneath; the blood grows lively, new color comes.

The temporary tingle that follows its first uses shows that your skin is returning to normal and new beauty is in prospect.

N. Y. Shows Way to Link Lakes With Ocean

Many business men are following the lead of Gov. Al Smith of New York in advocating transfer of the state's barge canal to the federal government for conversion into an all-American ship canal intended to supplant the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project. Beginning at Oswego on Lake Ontario, the canal would run to the Hudson river, which would be deepened to permit passage of larger ocean vessels.

The Theatre

About ten years ago, a spirited young actor named Douglas Fairbanks first sprang upon our cinema screens in a motion picture entitled "The Lamb," and began to grow, perhaps more by leaps and bounds than can be truthfully said of any other star—into what was to be ten years hence, our most spectacular screen player; at which time Douglas Junior was an infant, eating from a nursery plate.

The subsequent career of little Douglas differed from that of any other little boy only in the possession of a more glamorous father almost until he came last year, into prominence himself as the star of an agile screen drama, entitled "Stephen Steps Out."

Since then his shadow has crept faithfully across the screen in the wake of his father's slightly larger one and this season he has done his first piece of genuine emotional acting in that bleeding heart of motion picture melodrama, "Stella Dallas." Last September, Fairbanks Junior received his final accolade in an invitation to preside, among other stars, as one of the judges of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant. He also shows a determination to play big parts before many more moons.

The widespread popularity of the Charleston, which Ned Wrayburn claims to have introduced for the first time to the American public in 1923 edition of the "Polities," which he staged and directed, has brought it to the consideration of the American Geoing his newly acquired property on East Maple Street.

"Watch for the wagon—the old grocery wagon." It will be along just as soon as Chilton Bowles can arrange his truck and acquire his stock of goods.

A beauty parlor conducted by Mrs. Paul Boroam will be started in a room of the Jr. O. U. A. M. building.

It seems to be a good bet that a new grocery store will be operating in the village within a short time.

Harry Stake, as executor of the estate of his father, the late John Stake, has offered his father's will for probate. All the property both personal and real is left to the above-named son.

The streams about the village were on a rampage Monday night. Big Sugar Creek was the highest in a number of years.

"The Heart of Maine," an interesting drama, will be presented by the Jr. class at the new schoolhouse on the night of April 1.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Cramer have rented the remaining room of the Jr. building. Mrs. Lydia Mendenhall is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. Dinwiddie.

Funeral services for John Stake, who died Thursday afternoon, were held at the M. E. Church, Monday afternoon, the Rev. Young officiating. Burial was made in Bellbrook Cemetery. The pallbearers, all former friends of the deceased, were: C. F. Mills, M. B. Spahr, Perry Sackett, J. S. Turner, C. C. Austin and S. O. Hale. The passing of Mr. Stake removes one who had been active in the affairs of the village for three quarters of a century, and robs the community of an honest, upright citizen. His death also revives a train of recollections in the minds of our older citizens who recall the days when the deceased's father, the late John M. Stake, was the only undertaker in Greene County, having established himself in that business here in 1838 following a perilous journey through the wilderness from Maryland. The elder Mr. Stake continued in the business until overcome with the infirmities of old age. On the death of Thomas Stake, who succeeded his father, the business was sold to James Crowe after having been conducted by the Stake family without intermission for more than seventy-five years. Production of a series of short motion pictures which have for their purpose the teaching of audiences the Charleston, have been completed and will shortly be shown in the majority of cinema houses in the United States and every foreign country of the world.

Pictures were produced by the Edgar Scott Spargo Studios in New York under the general supervision of Mr. Wayburn.

The Story of a Girl Who Took Life Into Her Own Hands

Copyright, 1926, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE shares two rooms with

CELLA STEWART, and works as a stenographer and general assistant in the office of

STANLEY BLAKE. Mary has few friends, but Cella goes out frequently in the evening, though she does not tell with whom. Mary finds that Cella and Stanley see each other frequently, although Stanley is married. Mary goes to supper with PAT HAMILTON, whom she has met before but whose attentions she has refused because he is married, and sees Cella and Stanley at another table. Mrs. Blake learns that Stanley is going around with some girl, and thinks it is Mary. She telephones Mary, threatening to make trouble unless Mary leaves town at once. Cella disappears. Mary sees Hamilton again, and he arranges for her to go to New York and work for a friend of his.

Mary goes to work in New York for

MR. CRANDALL, a wealthy old man, and meets his son

WILL CRANDALL, who is very nice to her. She motors into the country with Will on Saturday afternoon, and they are stranded on a back road when the car runs out of gas.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XXX—FACING DEATH

MARY was happy again as she walked along that country road with Will Crandall, with his flashlight casting just enough light before them so that they could see their way, although the darkness closed in around them tightly.

"I'm afraid it's going to rain," Will told her. "The air feels like it. Mary, I've let you in for a lot of discomfort—I'm awfully sorry."

"But I'm not at all uncomfortable. I don't mind this a bit," Mary assured him happily. She smiled to herself over his calling her by her first name; she liked that. She realized that he hadn't even known that he was doing it.

"Well, you're the best sport of any girl I know—that's all I have to say," he announced. "Come on, let's sing."

He began to sing, in a husky, rather pleasing voice, that was not very strong, but that Mary liked better than any other voice she had ever heard. He sang old songs, "Mother, Machree" and "In the Evening"; "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "My Old Kentucky Home," and progressed to "Dawning" and "I Love You."

Mary, marching valiantly along by his side, loved hearing him sing. It made it much easier to walk, even when the sharp stones cut through her shoes, and she turned her head a little when she stepped into a deep rut. She was too happy to mind such annoyances.

It did begin to rain, lightly at first, when suddenly with such violence that they took refuge under a tree. The big drops pattered on the leaves above their heads, and the damp air was sweet with the warmth of the earth.

"Are you afraid of lightning?" Will asked, as a streak of it shot across the sky.

"Well, I—I—"

Suddenly a ball of fire seemed to sail straight at them, across the road. Mary screamed and buried her face on Will's shoulder. His arms held her tight. There was a clap of thunder that seemed to strike them, though it was only noise.

Mary opened her eyes a moment later. She was trembling so that she could hardly stand; if Will's arms had not held her up she would have fallen to the ground.

"It's all right, dear—don't be frightened," he told her. "That was a scare, all right, but it's all right now. The lightning struck that tree over there—just nicely missed us. Now, brace up—that's the girl." "Oh, I'm sorry I was so foolish, but I couldn't help it," Mary told him, pushing her hair back from her face with both hands and leaning against the trunk of the tree instead of against him. "I just didn't realize—I was so frightened."

"Of course you didn't. That was enough to scare anybody. I'm glad you came along with me instead of staying there in the car. I need your company. Looks as if the storm would let up a bit now, and then we can start on once more."

It was an hour later when they came to a garage. Just after they turned into the main road. A man there took them back to Will's car, filled the tank, and told them where to strike a road that would cut off several miles.

Will drove fast, but it was long after midnight when he stopped the car in front of the house where Mary roomed.

"I can't tell you how sorry I am that I made such a mess of things," he told her. "I should have had a reserve can of gas in the back of the car; usually I do. Please go out with me again, and let me prove to you that I do know how to manage such things."

"But I had a beautiful time," Mary told him. "Truly I did. And I didn't mind walking a bit."

"Ruined your shoes, though," he remarked, glancing down at them.

He shook hands with her, when the landlady had come grumpily downstairs to open the front door. Mary did not dare meet his eyes. She had suddenly remembered that moment when it had seemed that they were going to be struck by the bolt of lightning, and something told her that he was remembering it too.

She sat down by the window.

She shook hands hastily and hurried into the house.

"There was a man here asking for you," the landlady told her. "He seemed awful anxious to see you. Had a lot of flowers with him—they're in your room. Said he'd come to see you tomorrow, but if you got in before one o'clock would you call him up; he left the phone number on a piece of paper."

"Oh—what was his name?" asked Mary.

"I don't remember," the landlady answered grumpily. "How can a person think of strangers' names when they're woke up in the middle of the night to come to the door?"

She went off down the hall to her own room, and Mary ran up the stairs. It must have been Pat Hamilton, she told herself.

It was. She found his note, with the flowers that made a bower of her little room. She was too much excited to sleep. She undressed, put on her prettiest negligee, and sat down by the open window, with the flowers all around her.

But it was not of Hamilton that she was thinking, but of Will Crandall. She realized that she had fallen in love with him. She knew that he liked her, at least.

"I mustn't be silly, though," she told herself. "I've got to remember that a man doesn't fall in love with a girl, necessarily, just because he's nice to her."

Still—the way Will had looked at her, the nice things he'd said—she wrenched her thoughts away from him, back to Pat Hamilton. He'd been awfully kind to her when she needed a friend so badly; she ought to feel grateful to him.

"Well, I do," Mary told herself. But she had no desire to see him ever again. She wished that she had lent her so that she could come to New York. She'd feel better if she could just square accounts to that extent, at least.

Monday—Hamilton's advice.

Pimples

What can I do?

"Oh, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?"

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happiest girl in the world! What can I do?"

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red blood cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

CABINET CRISIS APPEARS IN FRANCE

PARIS, Mar. 26.—Another cabinet crisis appears inevitable as socialist and radical opposition to the government's financial project develops.

Today, the Franc slumped to 29.1 to the dollar, a record low which best depicts the threat of the French treasury. A dollar normally would be worth about five Francs.

Ninety-six socialists in the chamber of deputies stubbornly maintain their opposition to finance Minister Poret's plan.

After listening to Poret's explanations of his project today, socialist members of the chamber budget committee said they would oppose the business tax even if their opposition caused another cabinet crisis and the resignation of Aristide Briand from his ninth tenure as premier.

"The opposition to the government project is unchanged,"

Forest told the United Press after leaving the committee room.

CIVILIZATION ADVANCES

COMPARISONS are said to be odious, but if we would know ourselves as a nation we must reflect ourselves in the searching mirror provided by past civilizations and our foreign neighbors. The leader can always learn something from his followers.

Modernity is especially interested in the recent archaeological discoveries in Egypt, China, our own Southwest and Central and South America, not so much through empty curiosity as through a desire to learn what the past can teach and to gauge the advance of civilization. We are unconsciously reflecting ourselves in the mummy of King Tut and our institutions in the palace and tomb of the boy Pharaoh. An American correspondent in Russia writes that the villages in interior Russia are just awakening to the demands of modern life. He cites instances where electricity has just been "discovered" to the villagers and where the theatre is only now being brought to the Russian towns.

It is hard for those in urban America to believe that electricity and the theatre have been unknown to vast areas of Russia because one forgets or does not know that the same condition exists in many parts of this country. Few persons, to be sure, in the United States do not come in contact with electricity in some of its many forms, but even in the thickly populated East there are towns which still light their streets and houses with gas. As for the theatre, in this country it was first brought to the small American town by the moving picture. Before the introduction of the moving picture there were structures which purported to be theatres in many of the smaller towns, but the show troupes which played in them were of little worth and far apart. It is to the motion picture that rural America is turning for the panorama of American life, for the American drama and our own peculiar American comedy.

MORAL VALUE OF "DRESSING UP"

"HOW would they treat me if I went to their church some morning dressed in my working clothes?" said a man sneeringly as a couple of clergymen passed by.

"Exactly as you would be treated if you were to appear at the plumber's ball dressed that way," replied his friend.

Dressing up one's best is not a sign of snobbishness. It is a fine evidence of self-respect. The man who takes pride in his personal appearance is merely giving expression to his desire to be his best.

There is great moral value in dressing up. The man who comes home from work, shaves, cleans up and puts on his best clothes, will go out on the street with his head a little higher, his eye a little clearer and his heart a little nobler.

Clothes do not make a man but they do give some indication of the respect in which he holds himself. The man who is willing to appear in a crowd of his fellows, dressed untidily when they are dressed up in their best, shows that he is lacking in a fine sense of self-respect.

No matter how cordially the dower may be treated, it will not change his attitude toward himself.

Many a down and outer has been started on "the road back" by being dressed in a new, clean suit. He has been given the outward evidences of self-respect and feels the old impulses and ambitions stirring again within him. There is much salvation in being "dressed up."

Sunday is not a day for letting down but one for toning up.

The man who spends Sunday in a cast-off suit, rummaging through the basement, painting screens or tinkering with the old bus finds that the day shows a deficit.

He who turns the key in his desk on Saturday night, arises on Sunday and dresses his best, thinks great thoughts, cleans out his mind and gives his soul an airing, has been profited by dressing up.

SPRINGTIME IS HERE

SPRING is the season when new energy and hope rise in the blood courses of man like the sap in the trees. It is the invisible urge which makes man plan gardens, renew the home, plan for the future and make noble resolves.

People who don't feel the spirit of spring have forever lost the spirit of life itself.

It is lamentable that the season for making resolutions is in mid-winter. For every reason except the calendar new resolutions for change of human conduct should come with the first warm breeze of spring. Resolution is born of inspiration and human beings, like hibernating beasts and winter blasted vegetation, are inspired by nature's warmth alone.

Most of us mistake spring fever for a tired, care-free feeling when a real analysis reveals it as a feeling of impatience for greater things, inspired ambition and a devouring desire to get away to see and know all. Spring fever is a much maligned human experience. That spring-time desire for a new job, a new house and new scenes isn't indolence and lethargy as commonly conceived. It is nature's impetus for poets, artists, explorers, inventors and all the rest of the world's dream children.

THE TAIL THAT WAGGED THE DOG

1906-Twenty Years Ago-1926

The steady down pour of rain hurt the attendance at the McGervey Association concert but music lovers were brave and many heard the festival of song. Raids of police the past week have been somewhat prolific in obtaining a large number of intoxicants at a number of places. It is reported that two members of the Board of Public Safety are divided on the question of employing extra or special police officers. James A. Currie, Springfield, who recently purchased the old Arnold property opposite the Pan Handle depot, is preparing to completely remodel the place and present it to the United Presbyterian Church as a home for aged people.

THE DOUBLE-PURPOSE ROOM

The high cost of rents is perhaps an explanation of the present practice of making one room serve as two. Especially in large cities one finds families crowding into quarters too small to accommodate them comfortably, thus necessitating the use of a room as bedroom as well as living room—or as dining room as well as living room. Sometimes one finds the combination of bedroom-dining room, but I personally do not like this arrangement; too often the room is not prop-

A FAMOUS BARN

Miami Twp. boasts some of the finest scenery in the state of Ohio and years ago thousands of tourists visited various parts of it each year.

The famous springs at Yellow Springs, the cliffs at Clifton and along the Little Miami River, the fantastical geological formations to be found along the stream unite to make this territory one of the beauty spots of the state.

An interesting spot along the river is the old Grinnell mill which was in operation for more than a century and is still in a fine state of preservation. Near the mill farther up the river is the finest park in Greene County and one of the fine ones of the state, the celebrated Riverside Park formerly the property of John Bryan.

It became the property of the state at the death of the eccentric millionaire.

This park is one of nature's beauty spots—500 acres of mingled woodland and meadow rivers and streams, springs and cascades, hills and vales.

The former Bryan farm once boasted the largest barn in the entire state. Its interior dimensions give some idea of its size: 266 feet long, 120 feet wide and seventy-five feet high. Bryan later built an L to the barn eighty-five feet long by fifty feet wide. This addition itself was larger than the average barn.

First story was constructed of stone. Remainder of the huge structure was composed of oak and pine. The famous barn stands one mile and one-half southeast of Yellow Springs.

PLAY

Play occupies a greater part in the real happiness of life than almost any other element.

The man or woman who gives all his or her time to work and no play, early grows cramped and sour. Play takes youth by the hand and leads it into middle life and touches old age with beauty, giving a striking and gorgeous beauty to all life, as the summer clouds make opals amongst the rays of the dying sun.

No time to play? Isn't it life for which we live? Isn't happiness the goal of all our ambitions? And what a worker play makes of a man!

On the other hand, work may be made largely play. The most trying and strenuous job in the world is that of President of the United States. Yet when President Roosevelt was about to retire, after two of the most strenuous terms in history, he grinned and said: "I've had a bully time!" It is too bad that the world had to lose so great a man so soon. I don't believe that Roosevelt would ever have grown old.

Tennis, horse-back riding, boxing, affairs of state and of the world—these were a part of the daily life of Roosevelt. (And hunting in parts of half a dozen countries thrown in for vacation time.)

Youth should be taught that work must be made a part of play, and that all work really can be made play.

The healthy and wholesome city is that one which devotes most to the recreational phase of its community.

College life would be dull and drab without its play. "I love my work." That attitude is what gives zest and happiness to any worker.

Let's never forget how and when to play!

NEW FOOTBALL RULE AFFECTING PASS IS NOT TO BE CHANGED

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
NEW YORK, Mar. 26.—Criticism directed at the new rule restricting the use of the forward pass will not result in reconsideration of the rule for at least a year, according to H. K. Hall, chairman of the rules committee.

The committee feels it was a constructive ruling adopted with the intention of improving the game and that any such changes should be given the benefit of a test.

It has happened several times that changes in the rules have been tested for a season as was the case in the kick-off rule last year, and if the rule permitting the quarter-back only one incomplete pass without a penalty slows up the game it may be scratched off the books next winter.

The committee feels also, it is said, that as coaches have been endorsing the rule as being quoted against it. The criticism that it was a reactionary measure or aimed at forward passing systems like Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Tulane or Washington was declared to be beside the point.

The suggestion made by Bob Zuppke, that as progressive coaches of the country should draft their own rules, threatens a situation similar to that resulting from the baseball resin rule.

Although the rule book permits a pitcher to use resin on his hands, the American League and several minor leagues have refused to accept the rule and they can get away with it on a technicality.

Some organizations like the Western conference, the Missouri Valley conference or the Southern conference might agree among themselves to ignore the old rule and let the quarter-back call for as many passes as he wishes without being penalized and the rules committee would have to dig hard for a come-back.

Only in the case of an inter-sectional game could a real issue develop and teams would not seek any such test cases.

The rules committee feels that each section of the country was represented in the committee that passed the rule and that there is no ground for the complaint that the rule is trying to get back an old game which the West took away with the perfection of the open games.

of this city and Miss Grace Edwards, of Wilberforce, Ohio, will render special selections at the recital given by Mrs. Hazel Edwards Stokes, Tuesday evening, March 30th.

IV. "One Leg Squeeze." The exercise today has wonderful health values, and is particularly good for stimulating peristaltic movement—the rhythmic movement of the intestines.

Position: Same as in preceding exercises—lying on back with arms outstretched over head.

Exercise: Lower the arms to the thighs, at the same time bringing one leg up. Grasp the leg with the hands and squeeze it to the chest. Continue for 24 counts.

Start this movement with the left leg, flexing the leg and thigh as you raise it. Grasp the leg just below the knee with both hands and pull downward toward the chest as you count "one." On count "two" return to original position and on counts "three" and "four" repeat with the other leg. The leg should always be pressed to the middle of the chest.

"The Big Squeeze" will come tomorrow. It's a dandy for reducing that waist line!

RESERVES SIGN NEW PLAYERS; MAY OPEN SEASON ON APRIL 11

With re-organization of the team complete, the Xenia Reserves baseball team will once more represent the city on the diamond this season, it is announced.

Sunday afternoon games will be scheduled as heretofore and all contests will be played at Washington Park.

The field is being conditioned rapidly and the squad will hold its first limbering up practice session Sunday afternoon, if good weather prevails.

Schedule has not yet been arranged but it is planned to open the season April 11.

Many of the veteran Xenia diamond stars will again be seen in the lineup but much Dayton talent has also been signed up.

Among new faces appearing in the lineup will be Eckert, formerly a member of the Dayton Racers, who will captain the nine. Eckert plays a short stop position and is one of the most talented players in Dayton.

Conway, second baseman, also formerly of the Dayton Racers, will play in a Xenia Reserve uniform, it is announced.

Xenia fans are eagerly awaiting the opening of the season and as only first class ball clubs will be scheduled, good baseball entertainment is guaranteed.

COLORED ALL-STARS TAKE CITY INDEPENDENT COURT TITLE HERE

Xenia Colored All-Stars won the city independent basketball championship defeating the Xenia White All-Stars for the second consecutive time, 22 to 19 in a game punctuated with thrills Thursday night at Central High School gym.

Previously the White All-Stars had defeated the Colored All-Stars in the initial contest.

With a strengthened lineup, the White All-Stars started off in championship form with the avowed determination of evening the series, piling up point after point as the game progressed to finally hold a 11 to 5 advantage at the half.

The Colored All-Stars showed their true form in the final periods, and after quickly squaring accounts, jumped into the lead and were never overtaken.

The losers had added three Central High School stars to their lineup and with two ex-Central High players were strongly figured to square the series.

Robert "Butch" Genger did the bulk of the scoring for the losers collecting eight markers while Black, lanky center, topped the individual scoring with nine counters.

Central High School sophomores experienced little difficulty in trouncing the Lion Tamers, East High School second team, 26 to 7 in the preliminary with Higgins amassing eleven points to lead both teams in scoring.

Syrians Threaten to Bathe Damascus in Blood Again

Foreign consuls in Syria are taking steps to protect the lives and properties of their nationals, following a threat by Syrians who are in rebellion against French rule, to sack Damascus and burn and kill as ruthlessly as did the French in their massacre there last year. Photo shows the condition in which the city was left by the French bombardment, and native troops guarding a road leading into the place.

Negligees and Undies Show Novel Features

New Canadian Gold Rush Growing Into Stampede

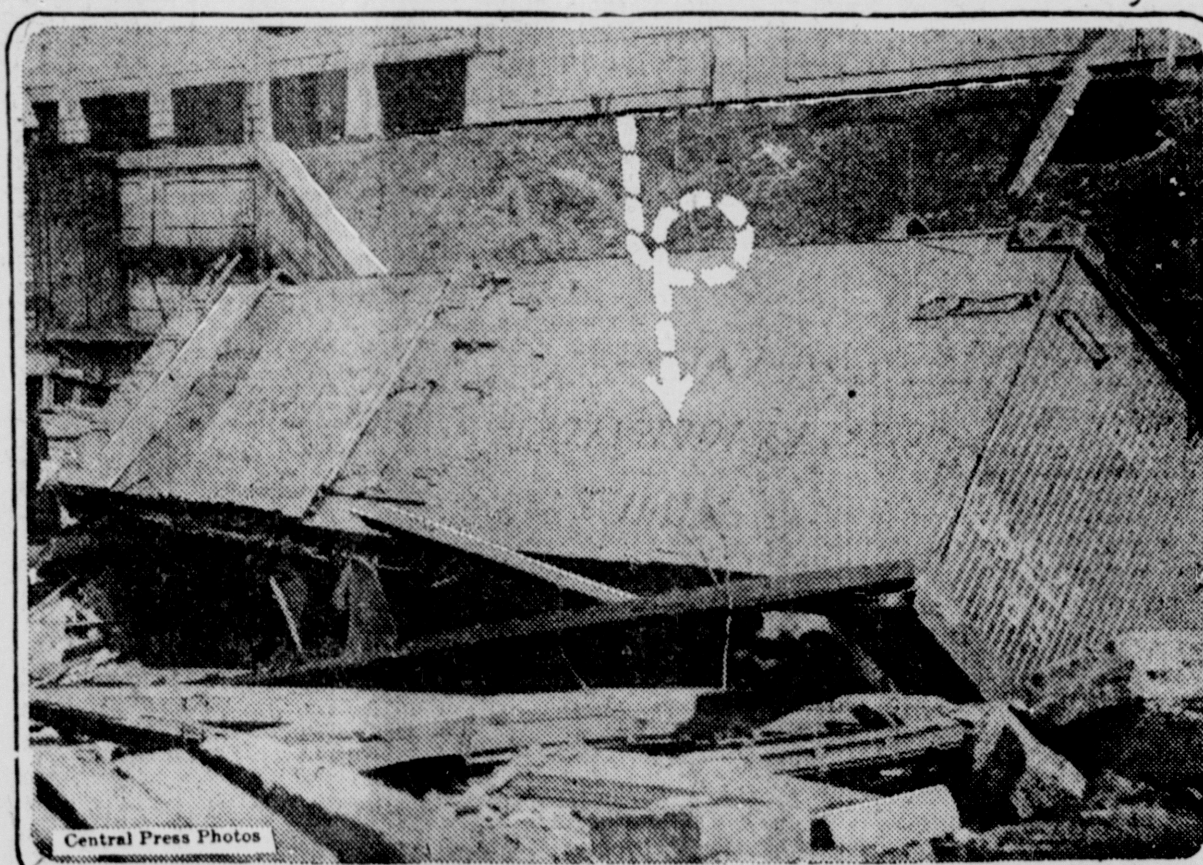

Red Lake region of Canada, which lies due north from Minnesota, is in the grip of a gold rush, with prospectors coming in from all directions. By spring the stampede is expected to be the greatest in Canadian mining history, exceeding even the development of the Klondyke. The district is six days by dog team from the nearest railroad point, but airplanes, brought in to carry mail and supplies, are covering the distance in an hour or two. Photo shows prospectors "panning" an icy stream.

Navy Ready to Build Greatest Air Battleships

Congress is being asked by the navy to appropriate for two 6,000,000 cubic-foot dirigibles (thrice the size of the late Shenandoah) which would be flying arsenals in time of war, fully protected with machine guns and small cannon against the most modern fighting planes. No other country has airships so large. Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of navy bureau of aeronautics is seen (with pointer) showing members of house naval affairs committee size of proposed machines as compared with the Shenandoah.

Catapulting Railroad Car Drives Family From Home

Family of Syve Galuske, whose house in Pittsburgh is within a stone's throw of a railroad, fled the home when a refrigerator car was knocked from the rails and tossed 35 feet, smashing an out-building and narrowly missing the Galuske dwelling. Members of the family, dining in the kitchen, saw the car catapult toward them.

TRAINING FOR THE six-day bicycle races. Harry Horan and Willie Fen, noted bike racers, tune up their muscles by sawing wood at the Newark Velodrome. The method is warmly recommended by ex-Kaiser Bill, who saws wood daily to keep in trim.

BIGGER BATHING SUITS for bathing beauties is the slogan of the beach censor of the North Atlantic coast. The theory of how to stop the wearing of slight and revealing suits is to take the offender aside and tell her in a nice, fatherly way to put on more clothes.

Three Mentioned as Pope Considers Naming Fifth American Cardinal

Vacancies in the Sacred College, caused by deaths of five cardinals within a few months, have revived reports that Pope Pius XI will name another American cardinal. Men mentioned for the honor are Archbishop Curley of Baltimore, Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis, Archbishop Hanna of San Francisco. There now are four U. S. wearers of the red hat.

Old Egypt Honored The Dead

Far within the outer walls of the pyramids are hermetically sealed chambers. Here the emperors of early Egypt prepared for themselves their abode after death. Here they placed the Book of the Dead—a guide for the re-incarnated spirit in its after-life wanderings. Mural paintings—life sized statues—works of art—adorned these chambers.

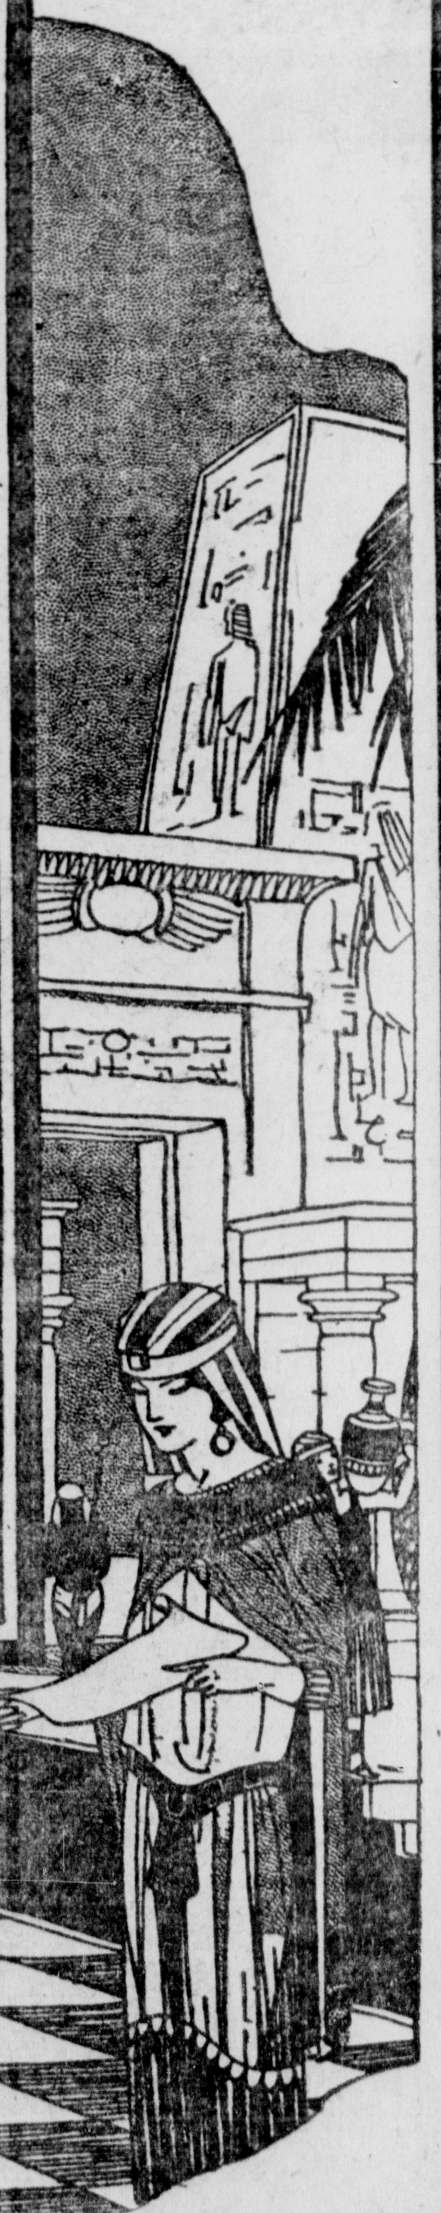

Your Reverence

For your beloved dead demands expression in the erection of an enduring memorial. It is the last tribute you may pay to those who have gone before—the last personal service you may render. To erect a monument that is beautiful in quality, line and workmanship is to dignify the memory of your loved ones.

As designers and experts in memorial craftsmanship we can ably assist you.

Easter Conceits!

No. 1—Candy!

Our line of Easter Candies has just been received in their charming Easter decorations and we broke open a box to find out if the contents equalled in FLAVOR and GOODNESS the splendid new raiment. Wonderful, wonderful confections they are and no time could be MORE appropriate than RIGHT NOW to get your Easter box while the assortment is unbroken. 60c to $1.50.

No. 2—the Children!

Candy Eggs, Candy Rabbits, Candy Daisies. In a score of shapes, sizes and blends but everyone not only interesting and full of thrills for the youngsters but GOOD TO EAT!

No. 3—For Milady!

At no other time during the year is a woman's toilette of LARGER importance than around EASTER. And things like a CORRECT Perfume, the PROPER shade of Rouge and the healthy GLISTEN that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic gives are only a few of the items we have here for her use! 50c and $1.00.

8 Times Stronger Than Carbolic Acid!
Think what a hot chance a GERM buttin up against such a remedy has! Yet it's as gentle and soothing as a mother's care. ZONITE has a HUNDRED uses, is nastier to TAKE but stands ALONE as a cold preventive, germicide and epidemic warder offer! The $1.00 size bottle is the economical one! 25c to 50c.

Wild, Wooly Wimmen!

They are arming EVERYWHERE! Strange, stirring, wild "yearns" are agitating the bosoms of womankind and their soft, soulful eyes are taking on the BATTLE GLEAM! Men are taking to cover seeking shelter where they may! Even the children are agitated! For SPRING HOUSECLEANING is upon the face of the earth, and thank goodness, we sure got MOST EVERYTHING HERE in the way of AMMUNITION! Ask Mary about it!

How Much Do You Know About Easter?

Did you know that the Easter celebration in the 10th Century lasted 8 days? That slaves received their freedom at that time? That the poor were feasted in the churches? That up until the 16th Century, sports, dances and farcical exhibitions, in which at times the clergy joined, were the order of Easter Day? That colored eggs are used not only by Christians at Easter but by Persians at their Solar New Year (March) and by the Jews at their Feast of the Passover?

Apart from Easter's purely religious significance in this country and the very natural solemnity of the occasion, Americans make the day one where gaily colored NEW raiment, happy new bonnets and (if the weather be propitious) the "Easter Parade" are strongly in evidence.

In other words, we all sorta like to brush off a lot of griefs, troubles, mistakes and other mental dust we've collected and start out again all frizzed up for a NEW set of adventures—in the spring!

And you'll probably be real pleased at some of the things a store like ours can contribute to this jant of yours. So if it's all right with YOU folks, let just not bother you any this week but will try to think up something cute to the boss NEXT WEEK.

DO. SAYRE.

Shorty Says:

So far as I can see, there's no GOOD reason for me to be here on this page at this particular time with this sp-glass. The boss expects me to always ring in something about how good his store is but why he got me this magnifying glass to strut around with is apple sauce, so far as I can Chicks! Ricketts! Cod Liver Oil! Vitamines!

Lack of vitamins in the diet of chicks causes ricketts and a chicken with ricketts never lives long enuf to even TRY to lay an egg. Cod Liver Oil, Sayre's brand, has 500 times MORE vitamins than BUTTER! And it takes only a very little of this C. L. Oil in the regular feed to insure them against this distress. Ask Jake about this. Jake understands chickens.

Police and Fountain News!

There's no reason why a Lime Frappe Can't be taken most every day; For they cool your throat and calm the mind And to your stomach they're very kind.

We've found this true for years and years In spite of many peoples fears! So you just try one some day soon And put yourself in perfect tune.

I Know a Man Who COMPLAINS!

He has "trouble with his stomach" and every new stomach medicine that comes on the market this chap BUYS! After a couple of days treatment, if he feels a bit indisposed after eating heavily, he quits the medicine and tell his friends "I've tried it—no good!" Dare's Mentha Pepson stomach remedy will NOT cure an OLD stomach disorder in a few doses! If you expect this, better not get it in the first place. Would you like to hear its record? Ask Dos Sayre.

Elimination!

The ancient Greeks made REG-ULAT-ION in the matter of DAILY EVACUATION almost part of their RELIGION. What they accomplished in HEALTH and PHYSICAL BEAUTY has for centuries been unsurpassed! The greatest care in the selection of a physic cannot be too strongly emphasized. We have 28 DIFFERENT remedies and REGULATORS to select from!

Easter Parade RUINED!

The poor fish was dressed up like a horse and buggy with enuf Easter finery to stop traffic but he had a bidan cross-eyed CORN on his THIRD TOE and he LIMPED. Our S. and H. Corn Cure 25c, would have made a bum outta that corn in 24 hours!

Newspaper Item 1941—any Paper!

Miss Eurilla B. Chamolis, head of the TOBACCO PROHIBITION Dept. has again requested Congress to appropriate a fund of $9,000,000,000 for use of her pipe sniffer's squad. She claims persons eligible for these jobs are hard to get and come high and hard to get don't last long owing to the positive necessity of keeping their noses pure and in perfect condition. This $9,000,000,000 asked for, added to the ALCOHOL PROHIBITION Dept's request for an additional $29,000,000 for 1942 it is claimed will greatly purify nearly everyone. SPEAKER COMPARES RELIGIOUS LIFE TO SPORT OF FISHING

Comparing the following of a religious life to fishing, the Rev. H. Elmer Pemberton, evangelist at the Friends Church, preached a forceful sermon Thursday night. Speaking of the essential things in fishing he called attention first to the rod, which he remarked, should be one easily folded and "put away to be stored in a small space. He compared the rod to the Bible, which he declared to be a joint rod with its many books, each fitting into its place.

The Bible, the evangelist said, was easily put away in the heart, so simple that a child could understand it, yet so profound that statesmen rely upon it. The Rev. Mr. Pemberton stated that Gladstone pursued the Bible one hour each day.

He then said that a line was the next essential and one was needed that would cast well, not tangle, and strong enough to hold the largest possible catch. Prayer, he then compared to the line that would reach and hold all circumstances especially when the line is reaching for the "other fellow." One cannot fish without a hook, the evangelist went on to say. A hook is needed that will hold and is sharp, he declared. Faith was compared to the hook that catches and holds and bait he showed to be love and sympathy while a reel which keeps the line from tangling he compared to the ability to do things, the landing net is the church with each person a cord in the net, helping to conserve the forces of righteousness.

Rupture Can Be Cured!

WITHOUT OPERATION; PAIN
DELAY; DANGER

Try This New Way Free

YOU are old before your time, if you wear the cruel, gouging truss, forcing its way into your rupture, preventing cure and making impossible the healing of the tear in your side.

Modern inventiveness has striven for something which would retain the rupture gently, at the same time draw the edges of the wound together. In this way ONLY can rupture ever be healed without surgical operation.

Heal the Tear

The new Brooks Appliance—rebuilt and recreated—allows the wound to heal. At the same time it retains the rupture with ease, comfort and safety. Circulation is free—those steel hoops, chafing straps and gouging pads are unnecessary. Freedom of movement is possible and all the time the new Brooks Appliance will be working for your cure.

Here is the secret of the new appliance—this little, gentle, velvet-like thing which is doing so much to relieve and cure rupture sufferers.

It lays—not pushes—on the rupture; its soft air cushion of hygienic rubber, gently brings those torn edges together. Every time you move, every breath, tends to gradually close the wound—the edges knit and your rupture is sealed. Daily it can be washed—just as easily as your hand. Soap and water will better it, rather than hurt it.

I bought your appliance for my son in 1920 and he has not worn it since 1921. Since that time he has gone through the most rigorous tests that a boy can think of and never complains in the least. Doctors pronounce him cured.

Sincerely yours, M. P. Taylor, Dennis, Tex., July 14, 1924.

In September of 1921 we sent for your Appliance for our little boy. After he wore it for one year there was no sign of any rupture and there never has been any return of the trouble.

Your Appliance cured me when nothing else I had tried would help. I can do any kind of work now and before I couldn't do much of anything.

Yours truly, Leslie E. Godwin, Langley Field, Q. M. C., Feb. 12, 1925. Hampton, Va.

Truss Prevents Cure

These are facts—so why not face them—you can never cure that rupture as long as the edges are being kept apart by a hard penetrating pad. Proper circulation is impossible and constant irritation tends to lessen the chances of growth.

Even if you resort to an operation—results are doubtful, expense certain and suffering is sure—the knife work will consist of bringing the edges of the tear together until nature has had a chance to re-weld the edges of the abdominal wall.

This is what we do with the Brooks Appliance—that is its mission. And it fulfills its mission—whether you work or play, sleep or rest—it is constantly working for your cure—always the little air-cushion, designed so that movement tends to close the wound, works to heal your rupture.

Free Trial Plan

The appliance is as perfect as human inventiveness can make it. Only by wearing it, by experimenting with it, can its logicalness be noted and appreciated. For this reason we will allow you to wear it FREE—test it, try it, note its effect on you. If it suits your case, keep it. If not, send it back. Write today for our free test offer. It is light, safe, modern, comfortable, clean—its life is long and it is the modern way to heal rupture.

Try it—wear it, experiment with it for 10 days FREE—its curative effect will astonish you.

What They Say—

I discontinued wearing my appliance about six weeks ago and am happy to say that my rupture is entirely healed. Was examined by my doctor and pronounced cured. Considering my age, 61 years, think this is wonderful work.

Graciously yours, E. W. Brown, Norwich, N. Y., 34 Fair St., Aug. 2, 1924.

I wore your appliance for one year day and night, after which I underwent a doctor's examination in 1921. He stated I was completely cured and I have had no trouble. I suffered from a double rupture and had need spring trusses for six years without help.

Sincerely yours, Albert Poole, Sterling, Mass., Box No. 177, June 11, 1924.

I'M GETTING ROUGH

A saving cat came to my door and stood with hungry stare; she sat her frame upon its floor, and whined for bill of fare; her back was bent and scarred and sore; her bones were almost bare. I fed her cider from my jug and cookies by the peck; I let her play upon my rug and roam about the deck.

Alas, alas, she did me dirt, she acted mean and rude; she grabbed my parrot by the shirt to eat for breakfast food; I soon found all my feelings hurt by such ingratitude. So from my door I kicked her slats and made her hit the pike; I said I'd have no more of cats, nor others of their like; I'd let them run about like bats and through the meadows hike.

One day I gave a bum a bed to shed him from the cold; I placed a pillow near his head, and blankets on him rolled. I filled him up with gingerbread, all that he well could hold. Some time that night he slipped away with my new overcoat; he threw a match into my hay and burned my Herford goat; he stole my finest dappled gray and I was left the goat.

No more I feed the tramping chap who comes to beg a feed; I tell him quick to close his map and from my dog proceed. I wake my dog from out his nap to have in case of need. No more I'll take a stranger in to feed with food and drink; I'll spend on bums no more good tin, then get left in the sink. I'll keep my turnips in my bin and in skates upon the rink.

Yes, now I go about my biz and drink my lemonade; I let my neighbor tend to his, I never loan a spade; I never try to help a fly in a ditch its laid. The bums may journey to my cot to feed upon my chow, I give no beans from out my pot, nor milk from out my cow; it often makes them swear a lot—I do it anyhow.

NO BALD PATE

He wears slick glue
Upon his hair;
He'll never get bald
If I stick right there.

The mean rascal who was recently found guilty of burning a barn in an adjoining county will probably be sentenced for a few years, whereas the innocent owner of the farm will probably have to complete his sentence of farming for life. If you are tired of farming, you can find a buyer through the Gazette "For Sale" column.

Rolled Stockings, 'Petting,' Immoral?

Jury of Farmers Is Asked to Decide

Do cigarettes, rolled stockings and "petting" condemn a girl morally? A jury of 12 farmers in Mason, Mich., a small town near Lansing, is being called upon to decide, in trial of the action of Louise King against Arthur Rich, son of a wealthy Battle Creek manufacturer, in which the youth is charged with criminal assault. Rich's defense is "consent," and an effort is being made by his attorneys to show that the flapper fashions noted above proclaimed the girl's character. Photos show main street of Mason, Miss King in bandages after the alleged assault, and a view of her leaving court. Inset is Rich.

Are you following this new advice
of New York beauties?

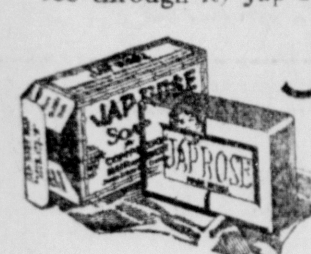

Use the Soap that Stimulates Skin

"Choose a soap," they say, "that cleans tiny pores full length and then stimulates the areas around them"—for by this method you can have skin that is healthy, vivid, soft.

And the soap that is best for both purposes they say, is Jap Rose. Because of its purity (you can see through it) Jap Rose can enter and cleanse your tiny pores that coarse soaps would clog. And the 2 natural tonics Jap Rose contains, stimulate the tissues beneath; the blood grows lively, new color comes.

The temporary tingle that follows its first use shows that your skin is returning to normal and new beauty is in prospect.

N. Y. Shows Way to Link Lakes With Ocean

Many business men are following the lead of Gov. Al Smith of New York in advocating transfer of the state's barge canal to the federal government for conversion into an all-American ship canal intended to supplant the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project. Beginning at Oswego on Lake Ontario, the canal would run to the Hudson river, which would be deepened to permit passage of larger ocean vessels.
